III. Public Comment

Sarita Cargas, Ph.D., Honors College: Speaking on behalf of the interdisciplinary basic needs research project. Completed a state-wide survey funded by the governor's office and HED. This is one of the first statewide surveys inclusive of all students in public colleges in New Mexico, also including faculty and staff. The data is being analyzed and is not available yet but will speak to two years of data previously collected. At UNM in 2020 42% of undergraduate and 26% of graduate students were food insecure. This equates to approximately 14K students. Utilizing the USDA's definition, many of our students are considered very low food secure. This means you skip meals a couple times a month and experience real hunger. Food insecurity is much worse today than in previous years. The Pell grant used to cover 80% of costs and now covers less than a third of tuition alone. Our research shows that students that are food/housing insecure are more likely to have lower GPA and more likely to withdraw from courses. I am here today to ask the Regents to prioritize needs insecurity as other peer institutions are doing across the country.

Regent Ko: We thank you for coming to speak. We learn from public comments and the very important topic of student wrap-around services.

Our second public commenter is Blakely Hautzinger, joining us via Zoom.

Blakely Hautzinger, Full-time History Student, Honors College: I have been in the Honors College for the past three years, which is where I was able to learn about the Basic Needs Project and have been working on the Basic Needs Project with Dr. Cargas for the last two semesters. I am here to talk about basic need insecurity among students, particularly how it affects honors students and student success. According to the basic needs survey on the UNM honors students conducted a few years ago, 32.4% of honors students are food insecure, meaning almost a third of students striving to complete rigorous interdisciplinary courses are not getting their basic nutritional needs met. Over 70% of honors students work in conjunction with their schooling, and students who are employed are more likely to be food insecure. 62.2% of students are completely or partially financially independent as well. Food insecurity is not rare. I am food insecure, working 20-30 hours per week to pay for living expenses and can't afford to buy fresh food or have enough time to make healthy meals. I'm more likely to be able to have one meal with snacks throughout the day. My basic needs are not being met and my academic success is suffering because of it, and most of my peers are going through this as well. To give students a chance to do their best and to succeed in college, you need to address basic needs and why they aren't being met for students. As stated in the second goal of the 2040 mission, "in order to ensure the lifelong success of social mobility and engagement of all learners," we need to start with basic needs.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

Regent Ko: Thank you so much, Blakely. We really appreciate you coming to do the public comment and sharing your perspective as a student. It really means a lot. Perhaps there might be some discussion after the next line of business, the Provost's Administrative Report.

Finnie Coleman: As we think through this, we should also think about the issue of housing insecurity. Many of our students who are hungry are also surfing couches. I've been educated about just how pervasive this problem is for our students, and it's one that we need a consistent, concerted, formal effort to address. I'm not sure where that needs to emanate from, but I think these things go hand-in-hand. We would do well by our students to take it up more formally than we have thus far.

Regent Ko: Thank you, Dr. Coleman. Let's have the provost do his presentation and we'll have our comments as well.

Reports/Comments:

Provost Administrative Report James Holloway, Provost & Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

Academic Leadership Updates

- Search is underway for Dean of Arts and Sciences, largest academic unit at UNM; search committee has recommended a slate of candidates to bring in for interviews. These will take place over the next couple of weeks.
- Search underway for the Dean of the Anderson School; development of a candidate pool is underway.
- New Leaders:
  - o New Dean of Engineering, Donna Riley starts tomorrow, April 1, 2023

Higher Learning Commission

• UNM holds institutional accreditation from the Higher Learning Commission. The Higher Learning Commission is a critical piece of being an institution of higher education. It establishes our ability to grant financial aid, engage in a number of federal programs, and have our degrees and credits recognized by the universities. It's about being recognized by the Department of Education of the United States, as a qualified and quality institution of higher education.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

- UNM's next comprehensive visit will be on April 24 and 25th. It will include open forums in Albuquerque and visits at 2 of the branch campuses: UNM Valencia and UNM Los Alamos. They will hold several forums. They set the agenda. Their agenda will be based on the assurance argument that we submitted on March 28th. Associate Provost Pamela Cheek and Jos Suliman worked with a number of people to put together the 112 page document. Thanks goes out to both.
- Last HLC visit the areas of concern were related to funding issues, and at that time, a lot of negative news in the press related to athletics and governance issues and the board. We think those matters are resolved to the satisfaction of HLC.

Student Mental Health Resources

- Our acute plan called for 3/5 new clinicians. We've hired 3.6. All are on board as of last Monday. There were additional new hires as well, a new associate director for mental health services, some critical administrative staff, and a business manager. The staff, while not clinicians, are critically important as they have removed administrative burdens from our existing clinicians.
- We are also replacing two clinicians. One as a result of retirement and another who has left. Replacements will be in place April 10th. A clinician is in place in residence life. We are currently working on increasing awareness of hat resource. This clinician works in conjunction with the Associate Director of Mental Health Services and the case manager. The embedded clinician in law is also in place, and a potential next step is an embedded clinician in African American student services.
- We are working diligently on outreach. We are doing monthly trainings with faculty and staff members in suicide prevention, covering how to and what to do if a student expresses suicidal ideation. We're doing stress management workshops for students and doing training on the TAO platform.
- We have received a request for proposals out for telehealth services, which is a joint request with NMSU and closes on April 6th. We have six interested parties.
- Our $3 million ask to legislature for mental health and basic needs support was not funded, so we do still have to address resource issues.
- We have moved forward and created a position of the Associate Dean of Students for Student Wellness to be on point, organizing wellness efforts. We are also entering into an agreement with Costco to assist with stocking the food pantry. They have provided some donations already and we are working to turn that into a weekly provision of food.
- Our initial mental health plan goal to bring the time from tirage to assessment to five days or less has been achieved. Our clinical load index (CLI) has reduced from 203 to about 125. This is a retrospective view. We will be able to look at a good measure of the CLI after having it in place for a full term.

Tuition Simplification

- The Regents had set for us over the last couple of years. We done a number of things over the last two years. Adding to that, this year we have moved the Anderson Professional Masters programs from three different rates to one and blocking their graduate tuition of 12 hours like most other graduate tuition.
- Moving forward, a proposal coming to the regents as part of the budget assumptions and budget package are to align non-resident undergraduate block with the resident block at 15 credit hours. Next would be to align the accelerated online program tuition with that 15-hour block for undergraduates and 12-hour block for graduates. Currently AOPs don't block. Finally, we are proposing to include medical students in the athletic student fee. This is a request from the students themselves, who initially did not have access to those benefits.

- We are creating a small taskforce this summer to begin to address some HSC simplifications. HSC has multiple base tuition rates, many of which are lower than main campus base rates. The graduate student tuition and HSC blocks anywhere between 12 and 18 credit hours. We'd like to work to simplify these and make them the same.
- In every school at the university except Population Health, differential is charged based on your major. In Population Health it is charged be the class taken. As a result, students could be charged multiple differentials based on their course schedule. This is out of variance with our differential tuition policy, which suggests we charge it by major. We're working to make that change with HSC and students in HSC to make sure we're all understanding the changes and why they are happening.

Recruiting

• Resident students: Up about 6% and up 4% in residents admitted. Non-resident applications: we're down approximately 6% in applications and down about 9% in non-residents admitted. The impact isn't as big as it looks. Out of state students yielded only 13-14%. Modeling indicates that the out of state students may increase a little. Total admitted is down about 3% as of now. Overall, we don't expect to see a continued pattern of growth for new admitted first-year students that we've seen over the past couple years. We still expect to see a flat or slight increase in total enrollment because we've brought in multiple years of large classes. If we bring in the same number of first-year students, we would still see some small increase in the total number of students as smaller classes graduate. It is too early to talk about transfer students as only a third of the applications have come in.

Retention Data

• Regent Ko was interested in some first-year retention data from freshman fall to freshman spring term. We had been cruising about 90% retention for first-year students. We them saw a big drop in 2020; that's Covid. We are building back up out of that. The challenge that came out of that in 2020-2021, was a significant number of students who were stressed in new ways, a significant number of online classes etc.

There is a concern. When we put first-year students in online/remote classes, 25% of them fail. When we put first-year students in high failure rate courses, failure rate increases to 30%. One of the things we need to think strategically about is whether we put our least experienced learners in those kinds of learning experiences that provide less community and less connection. Post graduate students in remote courses do fine. Seniors fare pretty well, but for first-year students, it is a big impact. It is not that remote courses are bad environments. They can be very good environments, but we need to match them to the learner.

Finnie Coleman, Faculty Senate President: Given that we are going to have a crop of students coming out of COVID, where much of their experience has been gaining competence in that sort of environment, do we have any sense that our students who have gone through COVID will be better prepared for those remote courses?

Provost Holloway: In 2020, about a third of high school students disappeared. They did not show up in their online courses. Many of our students did not successfully achieve an online high school environment. For some of them, it worked very well, and this is always the problem with learning environments: what works for one person doesn't always work for another. We also need to be careful about the self-selection bias where many of the students who are getting here now succeeded in that environment, but that doesn't mean that there isn't a group of students who didn't succeed in that environment who are going to find there way to us as well. I am skeptical that simply because students did learning remotely, they will achieve successfully in remote environments here. For example, students who came in in 2021 and 2022 did not succeed as well as students pre-COVID. They came with challenges. The data we have doesn't suggest that they're better at remote courses. The other point I will make is in looking at ethe students coming in 2021 and 2022, huge numbers of them need critical text analysis and foundational math. Even though they succeeded in high school, they have clear areas of deficit where their preparation is not what it needs to be, irrespective of what modality they learned in.

Regent Sanchez Rael: For those students who didn't come back in fall semester in 2012, do you have any understanding or data that tells us if they ever eventually came back?

Provost Holloway: A lot of our students don't come back to us, a fraction do end up in higher education. We do acquire some back, but a majority of those returning students end up in higher education, just not here. We also bring in a significant number of transfer students. In 2020, we did see about 1,000 students step out of education between Fall 2020 and Spring 2021 who didn't go anywhere. During the peak of those COVID challenges we saw about 1,000 students simply disappear from higher education.

Finnie Coleman, President, Faculty Senate: Do we have any analysis as to how the lottery scholarship; what percentage of students are taking advantage of the Opportunity Scholarship? Provost Holloway: Opportunity Scholarship was first effective for us last Fall, so we don't know yet. It is a great flag and something we should pay attention to.

Dan Garcia, VP Enrollment Management: we made initial projections for an increase in the first year class this past fall, 5 or 6%. We ended up seeing a little over 300 additional first-year students from New Mexico starting at UNM than we expected. We also saw some of our peers across the state see an increase in first-year students.

Provost Holloway: That is a result a result of the opportunity scholarship. One of the proposals in the legislature was to make the Opportunity Scholarship not available for first-term freshman students and we estimated that would have lost us about 300 students. We're very happy to see that not part of the legislation.

Regent Sanchez Rael: Is there any data on how this compares to other New Mexico schools or peer institutions?

Provost Holloway: I've nerve looked at this compared to other New Mexico schools. When we look at peer schools, like Georgia State and Wayne State, which has similar student populations, were about where we are, these are typical numbers. The challenge for schools like us who bring in high rural and high first-generation populations is that a lot of us get graduation rates in the 50s. How do we get out of the 50s?

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: Can we get approximate numbers on how many freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors we have?

Associate Provost Cheek: I will pull the data for you.

Provost Holloway: Looking at the designations, freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior, it is important to note on that across higher education, generally students do not graduate in four years. Generally, on average, they graduate at 4.5 years, or more so when we look at that bucket that says 'Senior,' it's got seniors and senior-seniors who have been here for more than four years. Equally when we bring students in with significant AP, a student can start as a sophomore.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

Regent & Chair Ko: The high failure rates with remote classes is an interesting finding. Perhaps we could have the appropriate office that helps with student success create some sort of guide for each level of undergraduate, graduate, and professional on how to succeed in those courses. I don't know if Canvas can embed those sorts of things. I think in more ways of how we can systematically improve access to resources; have wrap-around services.

Provost Holloway: Both of those suggestions are in place in some way. There is training for faculty on how to do these courses and work going on with advisors to help advisors think about how to best advise their students. We're also asking departments to think about instructional modalities they choose based on the student's success.

Associate Provost Cheek: In terms of your idea to have support around particular levels of online courses, we are in the process of validating a survey tool for advisors to use with students about their preparedness and also by circumstances relative to online courses, so students can self-assess on their readiness. We want to make sure that the Center for Teaching and Learning offers extensive resources around how to navigate online courses successfully. Beyond that, some of the issues are structural. We tend to assume that there's something about faculty – that is not the case. Our faculty for teaching online courses is exceptionally well-trained; we take rigorous, at a minimum six-week, courses, and we work with course designers to have state of the art online courses. What is a challenge is that many of our online courses are on an 8-week format, which can be really difficult for first and second year students in particular. and they also engage in a lot of resources and navigation of a learning management system that's far more complex, than what students had experienced in high school. There are structural issues that don't necessarily have to do with the course content.

Provost Holloway: We've got 3,700 all freshmen, 3,100 sophomores, 3,600 juniors, and 4,000 seniors. They're all roughly around that similar size of a little over 3,000.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: I was expecting them to go down each year.

Provost Holloway: Remember, there are many classifications of each grade, and we have about 1,000 transfer students each year. So even when a student decides to step out, there are transfer students coming in.

Regent and Vice-Chair. Schwartz: We have more students coming in than going out.

Provost Holloway: It's about 20%. We have a lot of transfer students and we're not unique in that at a flagship university.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: Do we have a sense of those 4,800 seniors, how many are transfer students, how many began here?

Associate Provost Cheek: 40% of our students here on the undergraduate level are transfer students. Many of our transfer students come from CNM, branch schools, Santa Fe Community College Center, all across the state and outside of the state contribute to our transfer population. It's pretty diverse, but a majority of our transfer students come from CNM. We retain about 30% of our transfer students, so 40% of our undergraduate population is transferred, but only about a third of that group will go on to graduate.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: How many of our students who graduate started here? Provost Holloway: It's about 54%.

Associate Provost Cheek: Yes, and we know that about 80% of the students who have started with us will complete a college degree, which could be an associate or a bachelor's, at some point somewhere in the United States.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: Is it proper to say that if a student has a choice between starting at UNM or starting at another university and transferring here, that they have a better chance of graduating starting here?

Associate Provost Cheek: That wouldn't be fair to say. We do know that students who start here tend to have a slightly higher GPA than students who started elsewhere, and that tends to have a cumulative positive effect in terms of outcomes. We also know that students start here can be more efficient with use of their financial aid than students who start elsewhere, so they aren't using up all their financial aid and working throughout their education.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: I really appreciate the presentation, it's been helpful, and I appreciate the university's focus on basic needs. How many mental health providers do we have now working through SHAC?

Provost Holloway: I believe that's eight.

Eric Scott: Not every mental health provider is 100% FTE, so the exact number is 8.2 FTE but that could be 9 people doing that.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: And is there a support staff beyond that?

Provost Holloway: Yes, and the support staff includes the case worker. There's also an Associate Director who is a licensed provider who does do clinical appointments, mainly focused on urgent care.

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: Is that the right number?

Provost Holloway: I will defer to Dr. McIver's answer on this, there is no right number. This is a challenge in our society that exceeds any amount of provision of service. Once we have the retrospective data, we'll be able to see what the clinical index is. It is much more beneficial and effective to our students to provide them with effective education and stress relief, workshops, and programs than it is to get them to the point where they need to see a provider. It's more of the question 'is the whole system effective?' Our initial goal was to reduce the time between triage and first appointment to less than a week, and this was the number of providers that would get us there, which has been successful but could change. We could see more students because stresses continue or because we successfully educate to destigmatize mental health. We could see less because we do more work to prevent students from needing that kind of support. Regent Ko: Thank you, I think we'll have more discussion on that, but we'll let Provost Holloway finish his presentation.

Provost Holloway: Thank you.

UNM 2040

- Five goals: Advance New Mexico, Student Experience and Educational Innovation, Inclusive Excellence, Sustainability, and One University.
- We want to develop tactics within this framework to advance the university, thinking about the tactics in light of state needs.
- State's Economic and Development Plan "Empower and Collaborate"
  - aligning all the parts of the state that impact our ability to create a thriving economy
  - higher education needs to be aligned with the needs of the state in economic development.
  - This plan also lays out nine economic sectors: Aerospace, Biosciences, Cybersecurity, Sustainable & Value Added Ag, Intelligent Manufacturing, Sustainable & Green Energy, Film & Television, Global Trade, and Outdoor Recreation
  - We should be supporting by both educating the workforce needed in those sectors and in developing knowledge about how to further those sectors. I've also included Healthcare and K-12 Education workforce.
  - Within Academic Affairs we identified 7 broad tactics to pursue that cover all UNM 2040 goals in multiple ways. Each goal will be measured in metrics we're currently developing milestones, measures, and targets.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

- The seven tactics can be broken into three groups.
  - The first three tactics can be grouped together. Strategic Planning for Colleges focuses on getting colleges to strategically plan within the 2040 framework for this to be embedded in schools and colleges.
  - Transforming our Learning and Research Facilities focusses on making improvements in our physical spaces to support the learning and discovery.
  - Developing the Intellectual Capital for Success. Our faculty are a key resource. Regents have already made getting faculty compensation more competitive a priority, hiring faculty in strategic areas aligned with the needs I've laid out. Put resources in place to help faculty develop their research.
  - Grand Challenges
  - Building the Quantum Ecosystem for NM
  - Accelerating Resilience Innovations in Drylands Institute
  - Student Achievement Project, which focusses on student success, graduation rates, and retention rates, campus safety.

I haven't explicitly lined these up with the 2040 goals and the state needs. We can provide that if it is requested.

I just wanted to give you a sense of what we are thinking about strategically with academic affairs and why, what the drivers where in terms of UNM 2040 and the state's needs. How those laid out in terms of thinking about tactics and the resources that we need to pursue that strategy, I will stop there.

Shaikh Ahmad, GPSA President: Thank you, Provost for the informative presentation the graph was really helpful. I'm kind of curious, I have one question/comment. Basically, the curiosity is as far as the number of international students, I know that we actually have a pretty big hit during COVID are we seeing that kind of level coming up back to normal or if not, how long do you expect it to take lengths in terms of going into the future?

Provost Holloway: We have seen a significant increase coming into this year. But first you are seeing a very small number, so it is easy to see a significant increase. We put a couple of things into place around international students recruiting. One, is that we are providing funds as a pilot. We are providing funds to GEO to use more recruiters. They are called agents abroad to work with students to apply. We previously worked with just a few agents internationally and so we are giving them additional support to work with more agents than we have previously. It is a pilot because we want to see it yields. If it yields, then we can continue to support it. The other thing that we have done is really kind of encourage yield. That is to encourage admitted students actually coming here, is that we are covering the SEVIS fee for students who actually enroll. That reduces or removes a financial barrier for students if they enroll.

Shaikh Ahmad, GPSA President Thank you for that. I guess a follow-up comment is as far as the challenges we talked about, as far as zoom or like virtual instructions. I think CAPS are really wonderful resource, I know our associate Provost mentioned CTL and one of the things that like as an undergrad in the perception I have developed is that if you go to CAPS, that means that you don't know anything. Basically, you shouldn't go there. I think that is a perception that perhaps as a University we could expose the new cohorts in the beginning or maybe introduce them with the idea that this is a resource. It doesn't mean that you know less if you seek help. Perhaps as an institution we can work with the upcoming team and include all of these. I'm pretty sure part of it is already included in the orientation, but if not in a robust manner perhaps we should talk about it more in terms of how we introduce our new cohort or incoming students with services like CAPS even some resource centers where you could do some form of tutoring.

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

El Centro de la Raza, African American student services, American Indian student services and so on. Just something to think about.

Provost Holloway: If I could comment on that because you put an idea in my head. President Stokes and I met with ASUNM last night and had a bit of a discussion about what can we do to help students be successful as all of to working together? One of the things I shared, is students don't know what exists. They don't know what resources are out there. The other that you just labeled is the reluctance to seek help. I just realized listening to you is that reluctance to seek help. We frequently frame it as we should talk to students about available mental health resources. We should talk to students about available tutoring resources and it is okay to use them. We should talk to students about available resources for basic needs and it is okay to use them. There's a common theme there. We actually need to talk to students on the whole that it is okay to seek help. We need a message across campus that is visible constantly signaling that it is okay to seek. There's a lot of research on student persistence and factors that contribute to it. One that is really clear is that students who are connected and have a social connection to the place succeed. It is because they can get help they know who to ask and they're comfortable asking because they already know somebody. It is hard to go up to a stranger and say "can you help me?" I want to thank you for that because it has really given me this idea that we need to create a culture of it's okay to seek help.

Shaikh Ahmad, GPSA President: That is a perception and I want to say that is a misperception in a lot of ways.

Regent Ko: For me as an undergraduate student I think if CAPS didn't exist, I would not be a graduate student because I went there all the time. We can start with normalizing it. Associate Provost Cheek: I just wanted to briefly add if I may, I just sent a link to Pam Kirchner to our office of institutional analytics that is open to the public. If you have any specific questions about some of the data items or going to transfer students or want to see tablos or anything else. It's a great way to refresh your knowledge of the University in all sorts of areas. So, we will make sure that you have that link and again it is a nice way to kind of run down some of these questions that have been coming today and thank you for allowing me to comment on that.

Pam Kirchner: I will make a note to send all of it.

Regent Sanchez Rael: Can we also put it on the Regents page. I happen to have a question that pops in my mind, many numbers do you think would be the heading and regents? Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: I really appreciate your focus on the development of a metrics, milestones, measures, and targets. I think it'll be really helpful. I also wanted to note that you talked about advancing New Mexico in terms of the economic development plan. Obviously, we can advance New Mexico in lots of ways that are, more than economic development. That is one thing that you want to look at, but isn't necessarily the only thing that we do. You can look at the list that you've provided and it is clear you thought of it in a much broader sense. I also think that it is worth putting it out there in a way that is equal to economic development. We ought to be thinking about and what we can do to help create a healthy population. What we can do to maintain a vigorous democracy. What we can do to maintain an equitable society. There are lots of other issues that we have to address and we should address that are as important as economic development. There are not even consistent with economic development. Look at the way you have handled it. That is absolutely true, it is just that we might want to articulate that sort of easier to default to economic development. I appreciate your broader approach, I'm also thinking about the idea of metric and milestones, measures, and targets. You think that maybe this is the area where we can start developing dashboards that would be useful to us to see where we are and each of these things. Also, I think it ties back into the discussion of basic needs. Some of the dashboards could also deal with basic needs and we could figure out where we are in handling those questions too. We would know that we are making progress and where we need to add progress yet to make that one. I wonder whether that would be useful down the road.

Provost Holloway: There is work ongoing in exactly that direction and as part of the UNM 2040 process. That's why we started writing metrics.

Regent & Chair Ko: Thank you, Regent Schwartz Are there any other questions or concerns about the presentation? I just wanted to start and say that I am really thrilled and humbled to have the opportunity to chair the SSTAR committee that I'm familiar with. The public comments today were really moving and it really like to see some efforts towards basic needs in the upcoming budget. Personally, as an individual member of the board and would really like to seek any input on what this committee should be working most towards. One that I have interest in and would like to further discuss is the idea to move very closely and strategically towards student retention and graduation rates and increasing that. I think ultimately what is most important is that any student that we accept at this institution, we should do everything we can to get them to finish line; graduate and realize their potential by entering the workforce postgraduation. So those are my comments, are there any other members that have any comments at this time?

Regent and Vice-Chair Schwartz: I'll just say that I too am really pleased to be a member of the committee. I have come to the committee many times and I have not ever been on the committee before and I really appreciate the work that this committee does. I was describing to my law school colleagues that I was really describing why I was so excited about being in the committee. One of them said "isn't that the whole University?" That's the jurisdiction of the whole University. How can there be other committees? There is something that this committee that goes to the heart of what a University does. I'm really pleased to be on the committee with people I respect so much.

Regent Sanchez Rael: I am no longer officially on the committee so I'm ex-official hearing loss because I have an eye injury. If you are wondering why I am sitting here is that eye situation. I am really excited to hand the gavel to Regent Ko and look forward to your leadership on this committee in collaboration with us. You'll see a lot of me as extra efficient because I'm really passionate about the work of this committee for those reasons.

Regent & Chair Ko: We look forward to having you at the meeting. Any other regent? Renent Blanchard, we would love to hear from you but don't want to put you on the spot. Would you like to introduce?

Regent Blanchard: I want to say that as my first meeting as a Regent I am highly impressed. I have always sent all my appointments to the agencies, to boards and commissions. I'm very impressed by staff and the great job the staff does ,and it is no different here. Amazing work and very detailed. The issues that have been brought up today really do encompass what the University is and what it is trying to be. I think that I learned a long time ago, but it is better to not speak much and listen. For most of the commissions I have been on it and some new I'm going to listen a lot more than I'm going to speak. I can promise you there will be a conversion of that. I will start speaking a lot more later on. Kim. you know that's true.

Regent & Chair Ko: It is good to hear from you Regent Blanchard. Thank you so much and we are very pleased to have you on the committee and look forward to your contributions. We have an ASUNM representative today. I just wanted you to introduce yourself. You don't mind? Jackson Zinsmeyer: Yeah. My name is Jackson I'm an undergraduate student, I'm standing in Ian May as his delegate today. Very honored to be here. It is definitely a really important committee, and a lot of great work comes out of this. Very much hoping that today and for the rest of the semester that the Regents continue to support students and faculty on campus. Very excited to be here. Thank you so much

March 30, 2023 – 1:00 p.m. Meeting Summary

Regent & Chair Ko: To keep moving forward if there's no longer any member comments, advisors do you have any other extra comments?

Shaikh Ahmad, GPSA President: First of all, I just wanted to thank the board and it's been an incredible opportunity to be able to contribute and engage with the board and other members of the regents. I would also like to report that the GPS say elections currently going on and we will be having a new President. I would like to welcome him or her, whoever that is with open arms and I look forward to new and the new GPSA administration. We are building a good relationship and advance our campus that way. So, this could be like one of the last Star meetings for me when I say it, but if not then I will see you on more time. It has been one of the meetings that I really look forward to because it actually engages students as well as it involves the topics that are directly impacting students on a regular basis. It has been a wonderful opportunity to be able to really contribute and engage in this conversation. So thank you so much for this opportunity.

Regent and Chair Ko: Any other advisors, comments. Seeing none, we are going to move our new item.

Finnie Coleman, Faculty Senate President: There is a chance that this may be my last SSTAR committee too. This has been a fantastic opportunity for me. I'm glad that we have faculty senate representation on the committee. We are in the midst of having our elections for next year's faculty senate for other leadership positions. Dr. Chris Elder will be taking this spot coming next fall and maybe as early as next month. I'm also an HLC advisor and I have a trip scheduled to Oklahoma to do their evaluation that may conflict, but I don't know the exact dates. I'm hoping it doesn't so they I can come back and say all of this over again then by the month or so. It's been a real honor and pleasure to be on the committee and it is the heart of what we do as a University.

Why?

- Enhance quality of policy eco-system in New Mexico by expanding access to training
- Interest from prospective students who already hold a graduate degree
- Interest from New Mexicans outside the Albuquerque area, including those who live in rural and Native communities (Track I can be completed remotely)
- Policy training for students in other UNM grad programs (biological and physical sciences, engineering, law, business, education)

Existing faculty and resources are sufficient

• MPP can accommodate 2-4 certificate students per year with current faculty and resources

Justification

Program Justification

UNM has offered an interdisciplinary Master of Public Policy (MPP) since 2017. The MPP contributes to UNM's mission to serve the community by training analysts who identify and champion place-based and data-driven policy solutions. Our graduates work in state and local government, and in the non-profit sector in a variety of policy development, program evaluation, and policy research positions.

The Graduate Certificate in Public Policy would fill a need for prospective students who desire training in policy approaches and best-practices, but who aren't interested in pursuing a full master's program of study. This may be because they already hold an advanced degree in a different field, or because they can profitably combine policy-related work experience with a Certificate (e.g., they don't need a Master's degree to advance in their career).

The members of our Community Advisory Board, who include representatives from state and local government, non-profit, and business sectors have advised us that such training would benefit many sectors and communities in New Mexico. We frequently interact with prospective students who already hold an advanced degree and would be interested in a policy credential. The ability to complete the Certificate remotely will be of interest to prospective students who live outside of the Albuquergue metro area.

RATIONALE

- UNM-Gallup wants to adopt this program from the UNM-Valencia campus
- UNM-Valencia has seen steady student demand for this program
  - At least a 75% course fill rate over the past four academic years
- UNM-Gallup already has a popular AS degree in Medical Laboratory Technology, with qualified faculty that could support this program

POTENTIAL STUDENTS / WORKFORCE OUTCOMES

- This program will be marketed to students who are interested in the healthcare field
- Phlebotomy jobs are projected to grow by 10% nationally over the next ten years
  - Northwestern New Mexico has many potential employers (especially in and around Gallup and Farmington)
  - In Northwestern New Mexico, job growth in Phlebotomy is projected at over 20%

FACULTY/RESOURCE NEEDS

- Our AS program in Medical Laboratory Technology already has the space and equipment to facilitate this program
- Expenses will include one potential adjunct salary
  - Potential maximum cost of $12,000/semester
- We hope to initially enroll 9 students/semester
- 9 students, enrolled in 12 credits/year @ $80.50/credit =
  - $8,694/semester in potential revenue
- The I&G budget of the Education, Health, and Human Services Division will absorb the $3,306/semester not covered by tuition

Certificate in Phlebotomy Technician Executive Summary University of New Mexico-Gallup

Program Description

Goals. UNM-Gallup would like to adopt the Phlebotomy Technician certificate program currently offered at the UNM-Valencia branch campus. Not only will this program provide students with an opportunity to join a fast-growing profession, but it will also provide another career/educational option for students interested in a health career. Our Nursing program is incredibly competitive, and our campus would like to further diversify potential areas of interest for students who would like to serve as first responders, healthcare providers, and/or medical lab technicians. Phlebotomy is an area of expected growth, an area already of interest to campus faculty, and an area of clear interest to students in our state and region.

Branch mission alignment. A key component of UNM-Gallup's vision/mission is to support students in pursuing "community focused, regionally specific, and culturally vibrant education." By preparing students for employment opportunities in the local health sector, and as knowledgeable advocates for the wellbeing of their communities, this proposed Certificate program supports that mission.

UNM mission & strategic plan alignment. The third objective outlined in the first goal of UNM's most recent strategic framework is to "Be a force for social justice and health equity by working with the varied and rich communities of our state to enhance the health of all New Mexicans." The people who live in the Gallup-McKinley County area have been chronically underserved. The creation of this Certificate program would help to produce local phlebotomists who could work at local hospitals, medical centers, blood donation programs, and laboratories.

Other branch campuses. UNM-Valencia currently offers the program UNM-Gallup would like to adopt. Their campus faculty and dean have no objection to our request (see email correspondence below).

Employer involvement. As with UNM-Gallup's AS program in Medical Lab Technology, this certificate program would be periodically reviewed and revised by a board populated with local employers. These employers will likely include representatives from the two local hospitals (Gallup Indian Medical Center and Rehoboth McKinley Christian Hospital), as well as other employers (e.g. BPL Plasma, Vitalant, etc.).

Timeline. Assuming approval, we would like to see the program begin with a cohort of students during the fall 2024 semester.

Evidence of Need

Demand. The health industry is the fastest-growing sector of the U.S. economy. Job in Phlebotomy are expected to grow 10% ("faster than average") over the next ten years. Health Care and Social Services, as a sector of Gallup's economy, is the largest local industry (see Appendix B). Two of the top-five employers in Gallup are in the medical field. UNM-Valencia's has seen steady student demand, with Phlebotomy courses seeing at least a 75% fill rate over the past four academic years. There is clear demand for phlebotomists in the workforce and clear demand among students for phlebotomy coursework. See Appendix A for Department of Labor statistics regarding phlebotomists. According to New Mexico Workforce Connections, the Farmington area and the northern region of the state of New Mexico are both projected to see over 20% growth in the need for phlebotomists (see Appendix B).

Recruitment. Targeted recruitment efforts will include outreach and engagement with students who have expressed an interest in health careers.

Similar offerings in NM. ENMU-Roswell (19 credits), CNM (10 credits), NMSU-Alamogordo (6 credits), Dona Ana Community College (4 credits), San Juan College (4 credits), Santa Fe Community College (14.5 credits), and UNM-Valencia (12 credits) all offer similar certificate programs in Phlebotomy.

Formal Needs Assessment. McKinley County has been designated an area of "health professional shortage" by the federal government. It is surrounded by counties with the same designation. McKinley is the poorest county in NM (which is one of the poorest states in the nation). Its healthcare outcomes are abysmal. See Appendix B for statistics about how much demand there is for phlebotomists in our region of New Mexico.

Program Content and Quality

Curriculum Standards. The curriculum for this Certificate program would be based entirely on the curriculum already used at UNM-Valencia. It is a curriculum that is based on preparing students for employment and the Certified Phlebotomy Technician national exam. The Certificate would require 12 credit-hours in theory and clinicals. Those courses include:

PBT 101: Phlebotomy Technician (8cr). This course prepares students for American Society for Clinical Pathology (ASCP) Certified Phlebotomy Technician (PBT) certification. Successful completion of an apprenticeship at a clinical worksite is required.

PH 102L: Certified Phlebotomy Technician Clinical (4cr). Clinical apprenticeship program for PBT 101. Successful completion required for credit in PBT 101. Corequisite: PBT 101.

Student Learning Outcomes. Upon completion of this Certificate program, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate proficient and accurate collection techniques when performing venipuncture.
- Draw and process blood specimens.
- Demonstrate the personal and professional ethics and interpersonal skills that are expected in the workplace.

Instructional Models. Instruction will include a combination of lecture, case-studies, and clinicals. Accreditation. This program plans to seek accreditation from the National Phlebotomy Association.

Evaluation and Assessment

Measuring SLOs. Assessments would include learner self-assessments, peer assessments, and assessments by instructors, including case studies and clinicals.

Program Effectiveness and Plan to Assess Learning Outcomes. Students will complete a comprehensive, qualitative course evaluation, along with the standard UNM student evaluations. Periodic consultations with local employers and working phlebotomists will also provide feedback to inform curricular refinement.

Required Resources

This program will require a rely, at least initially, on adjunct instructors (at an estimated $12k/semester. All instructors will be approved by the UNM-Gallup EHHS Division, will hold (at minimum) an associate's degree, and will have experience as fulltime professionals in the field of phlebotomy. Classroom and simulation training will be supported by the UNM-Gallup Health Careers and Nursing facilities.

Projected Enrollment & Costs

The enrollment at UNM-Valencia is capped at 12 students a semester. In recent semesters, at least nine students have enrolled in each course offered. We anticipate a similar level of interest at UNM-Gallup. Tuition (or financial aid) and the EHHS instructional budget will cover the costs of instructors and materials.

Detailed Table of Enrollment Projections:

Fall 2024	Spring 2025	Fall 2025	Spring 2026	Fall 2026	Spring 2027
9 students	9 students	9 students	9 students	9 students	9 students

Detailed Program Budget:

Revenue

9 students, enrolled in 12 credits/semester @ $80.50/credit (our tuition rate) = Total potential revenue of $8,694/semester

Expenses

Potential adjunct faculty salaries Salary @ $12,000/semester Potential maximum = $12,000/semester

Of the program costs, tuition will not cover $3,306 each semester. Instead, our campus's Education, Health and Human Services Division will absorb that remaining cost by utilizing new and existing state and federal monies currently available to community colleges for the creation and maintenance of healthcare degree programs.

What Phlebotomists Do

Phlebotomists draw blood for tests, transfusions, research, or blood donations.

Work Environment

Phlebotomists are employed in a variety of settings, including hospitals, medical and diagnostic laboratories, blood donor centers, and doctors' offices.

How to Become a Phlebotomist

Phlebotomists typically enter the occupation with a certificate from a postsecondary phlebotomy program, but some qualify with a high school diploma and on-the-job training. Employers may prefer to hire candidates who have earned professional certification.

Pay

The median annual wage for phlebotomists was $37,380 in May 2021.

Job Outlook

Employment of phlebotomists is projected to grow 10 percent from 2021 to 2031, faster than the average for all occupations.

About 21,500 openings for phlebotomists are projected each year, on average, over the decade. Many of those openings are expected to result from the need to replace workers who transfer to different occupations or exit the labor force, such as to retire.

Good afternoon Dr. Mingus,

PCA 101 – Personal Care Attendant (Home Health Aide)--- 5 credit hour

We currently only offer this course at the local high school for Juniors and Seniors to take for dual credit as this is a great gateway training course for those students wanting to pursue a career in the healthcare industry. Things to take into consideration ... Currently there is no industry credential available for this level of training. Also, Currently, The federal and state regulations for assisted living facilities do not require their employees to have any formalized training at this time. With that being said our local employers do not require any formalized training in order to gain employment with them so we currently do not offer this course outside of dual credit. This class is taught Face to face.

Phlebotomy

PBT 101 --- is 8 credit hours and runs 12 weeks meeting 12 hours per week.

PBT 102—is 4 credit hours and runs the last 4 weeks of a semester This is a co-requisite to the PBT 101 course. Students have to register for both courses in order to complete the class. This is the clinical experience portion of the program. students are required to do 120 hours of clinical experience in a Laboratory setting as well as 100 successful unaided venipunctures.

As Laura mentioned enrollment is up and down in this program especially since the Pandemic.. There are a lot of employment opportunities industry anywhere from doctor office, to the hospitals and in the laboratories themselves. Students who complete the program are eligible to sit for the National ASCP Exam to earn the industry credential. Most employers currently do not require this certification in New Mexico but it has been our experience that they give preference to applicants that have that certification.

Both the didactic and clinical experience is based on the National Exam requirements.

I hope this has provided you with the additional insight you were looking for.

If you have additional questions please do not hesitate to reach out as Laura mentioned we don't have any issue with Gallup adopting either one or both of these programs.

Hi Matt. PCA is dual credit, but Phlebotomy is not. I would say that the programs wax and wane in terms of enrollment, but we have been successfully running them for a long time. I'm copying the person who runs those programs here, as she has a lot of insight. These are in-person programs for us. I wouldn't have issue with Gallup adopting.

Eileen, can you provide more details to Dr. Mingus?

Thanks, Laura

Hi Laura,

I hope all's well at the Valencia campus! Your enrollment numbers are looking great this semester!

I'm still working on some curriculum stuff for Gallup this spring, and I saw that you've recently had quite a few students graduate from your Personal Care Attendant and Phlebotomy Certificate programs. Are those programs relatively well-enrolled? The PCA Certificate is a single five-credit course, right? And is offered only for dual-enrolled students? And Phlebotomy is 11 credits? Have you had any issues with either of those programs?

I think our Education, Health, and Human Services chair is interested in potentially adopting these two programs at our branch. Is that something you would recommend doing? Or is there a reason to object to that?

When you get a chance, let me know. And just to be clear (because we had this problem when we pitched adopting Los Alamos's AAS in Fire Science), we are not planning on offering these Certificates online. They would be offered completely in-person, if we were to offer them at Gallup. Obviously, we're not moving forward on anything yet; I'm just trying to gather some information.

Thanks for your time.

Re: Certificate in Phlebotomy Technician Date: February 16, 2023

The proposed adoption from UNM-Valencia of the Certificate in Phlebotomy Technician has the potential to address health care workforce needs in the state of New Mexico and in the greater Gallup and McKinley County communities. On behalf of Office of the Provost and EVP for Academic Affairs, I write in support of moving forward with this certificate program adoption and proposal.

Interdisciplinary Design Certificate

- 12-credit transcripted undergraduate certificate
- First interdisciplinary design certificate in the state.
- Open to all undergraduate students currently enrolled in any college or school at the University of New Mexico in any degree program.
- Course offerings in Architecture, Art, Computer Science, Honors, and Organization, Information and Library Sciences (OILS).
- 4 courses, spanning three departments and two colleges
- Housed in Honors College
- Budget implications: no additional faculty will be required for the certificate.

Interdisciplinary design certificate goals:

- enhance interdisciplinary design capacity in students
- help students to develop skills to frame and reframe problems that appear to be intractable and persistent
- promote competitiveness of UNM undergraduates to meet market demands in the creative technology economy
- formalize a network of UNM faculty, with a shared common goal, while enhancing their ability to act in coordinated and collaborative ways.

Interdisciplinary Design Certificate

+Students +Learning Outcomes

- 1. Students will develop skills in interdisciplinary design that will enhance their problem-solving skills through the lens of fine arts, organizational learning, computer science, interdisciplinary honors, and architecture.
- 2. Students will develop analytical skills to apply interdisciplinary design principles while conducting design practices that use ethical and culturally responsive methods.
- 3. Students will develop skills in community engagement, collaborative working methods, prototyping, and iterative processes to improve and reimagine communities.
- 4. Students will be aware of opportunities to apply interdisciplinary design as a tool to engage communities while developing communication methods to work with diverse stakeholders.

Program Justification

The 12-credit transcripted Interdisciplinary Design Undergraduate Certificate will provide UNM undergraduate students with academic skills and practical experiences, preparing them for a range of career fields that rely on design thinking and design methods. The certificate consists of a minimum of 12 undergraduate credit hours. Students will select four courses from an approved list, including at least one course that provides an introduction on how to design. The courses must span at least three departments and two colleges. Upon successful completion of the requirements, students are awarded a transcripted Undergraduate Certificate in Interdisciplinary Design.

Broadly, the goal of the Undergraduate Certificate in Interdisciplinary Design is to promote the competitiveness of UNM graduates in both meeting market demands and empowering them as citizens. The purpose of the certificate is to enhance the interdisciplinary design capacity of students. This aligns with the UNM Mission, as this capacity—which comprises values, habits of mind, knowledge, and skills—prepares students not just to be problem solvers, but to frame and reframe problems that appear to be intractable, persistent, or are reproduced across solutions. Learning to frame and reframe problems empowers people to be engaged citizens capable of making change, to contribute to economies as producers of ideas that go beyond the ordinary, and to lead more satisfying lives because they have and know how to use their agency to make consequential decisions.

Program Description

The Certificate in Interdisciplinary Design provides students with an interdisciplinary community of scholars at the University of New Mexico doing research, teaching, and service at the confluence of design thinking, interactive working processes, and community engagement. All undergraduate students, from a range of diverse perspectives and disciplines-ranging from the humanities to the arts, to architecture & planning, and computer science-are invited to apply.

Key student learning outcomes include conducting asset inventory, developing problem-solving skills through hands-on projects, and employing design thinking practices using ethical and culturally responsive methods for a range of diverse stakeholders. Other major student learning outcomes include community engagement, collaborative working methods, prototyping, and iterative processes in order to improve and reimagine communities.

Admissions Requirements

The certificate is only available to current undergraduate students already matriculated in an undergraduate degree-granting program (i.e. bachelor's degree program) at the University of New Mexico, regardless of the field of study. No application is necessary. Students will meet with advisement so they can certify that they have taken four courses from the approved list (must be in three different departments). Only courses with a grade of C or better will count toward the certificate credits.

Graduation Requirements

The certificate requires the completion of 12-credit hours from a list of approved courses, including at least one course that provides an introduction on how to design. Up to 6 credit hours may be completed in one department, including a maximum of 3 credit hours of independent study. Courses may double-count with major or elective requirements. A list of approved courses, and information for the Interdisciplinary Design faculty and staff advisors, may be found at the website: www.i-design.unm.edu

Chemical biology: an educational challenge for chemistry departments

Tadhg P Begley

Chemical biology, broadly defined as the application of chemistry to the study of molecular events in biological systems, presents an opportunity for the reorganization and revitalization of the chemistry curriculum.

Chemistry, with its roots in alchemy, has always been deeply interested in understanding the nature of life. However, for most of the history of chemistry, this problem proved to be too complex, leaving chemists to focus on the exploration of individual reactions and simple systems that could be studied in molecular detail. Biologists, who were more comfortable studying large, complex and often poorly defined systems, adopted the problem of understanding the living state. This has now changed. The availability of efficient biomolecular syntheses, reliable protein overexpression and purification techniques, the analysis of protein modification by mass the analysis of protein modification by mass spectrometry and high-resolution macromolecular structure determination has enabled chemists to manipulate and characterize biomolecules with greater facility than small molecules could be manipulated and characterized 50 years ago. Genome sequence, transcriptome and proteome analysis and

What is chemical biology?

Posted by Milka Kostic | Published June 01, 2017, 09:00

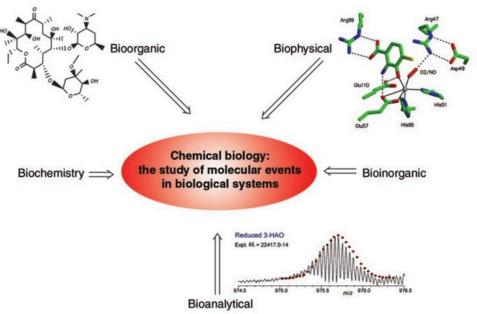

- "Chemical biology is a relatively new field. It only emerged about 20 years ago when chemists became interested in applying chemistry to studying biological systems."
- "Initially, chemical biology was a way of making new small molecules that have biological effects and understanding how biological systems make small molecules, but the discipline has grown remarkably over a short period of time, attracting attention as a pursuit for better understanding and more efficiently utilizing biology and as a way of finding better drug targets and treatment options as well as better biomarkers and diagnostic strategies."

- "Many scientific disciplines escape clear definitions because they're interdisciplinary, and this is undoubtly true for chemical biology. However, labels are useful—for getting grants, for getting published, for getting the science noticed, for getting the right students, postdocs and faculty recruited—and I don't shy away from exlaining what I put the label 'chemical biology' on."
- "chemical biology is a scientific discipline that has a deep, fundamental grasp of how chemical and biological matter interface."

The Program's major goals

- 1. Provide a novel degree program option for students not currently provided by other institutions within New Mexico.
- 2. Provide a novel degree option for students that not currently well served by the current undergraduate degree options at the UNM.
- To generate Chemical Biology graduates who are well prepared to pursue postgraduate education and training in other science and/or professional fields (M.S., Ph.D., M.D., or Pharm.D.) at the UNM or other colleges/universities.

- The Chemical Biology major is for those students who are interested in careers as professional chemists, or in the biological sciences, which will include the biomedical, biotechnology, and pharmaceutical industries. It is important to note that this degree program for Chemical Biology will be distinct from those of Biology, Chemistry, and Biochemistry.
- Chemical biology is a distinct discipline from biochemistry. Biochemistry is the study of the chemistry of biological systems and primarily encompasses topics such as understanding how DNA is replicated, RNA transcribed, and proteins translated. Additionally, biochemistry studies the metabolic networks within cells that generate energy.
- Chemical Biologists could work in medicinal chemistry, cheminformatics, drug discovery. There are many chemical biology journals that publish these works, such as Nature Chemical Biology and the American Chemical Society Journal Chemical Biology (ACS Chemical Biology).
- As defined by Nature, "Chemical biology is the study of the chemicals and chemical reactions involved in biological processes, incorporating the disciplines of bioorganic chemistry, biochemistry, cell biology and pharmacology."

As of 2021

• There are no other Bachelor of Science degree programs for Chemical Biology offered in New Mexico or surrounding states (Arizona, Utah, Colorado, Oklahoma, and Texas). The absence of an undergraduate Chemical Biology degree program in this region necessitates the need for such an emerging multi-disciplinary undergraduate program degree. The only universities in the United States with an already existing Bachelor of Science degree program for Chemical Biology are the University of California (Berkley, CA), Brandeis University (Waltham, MA), Cornell University (Ithaca, NY), Case Western Reserve University (Cleveland, OH), Northwestern University (Boston, MA), Massachusetts Institute of Technology (Cambridge, MA), and Vanderbilt University (Nashville, TN).

Program Justification

The University of New Mexico (UNM) Department of Chemistry and Chemical Biology proposes the creation of a new Bachelor of Science Degree Program for Chemical Biology.

Chemical biology is a relatively new scientific discipline that applies concepts and techniques from the fields of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, engineering, medicine, and the pharmaceutical sciences, to address society's most complex questions. It involves application of chemical and fabrication techniques, with a particular focus on the synthesis and spectroscopic analysis of small molecules and proteins, with molecular and systems analysis methods, including biophysical modeling and simulation, for investigating and manipulating complex biological systems that are both natural and designed.

The United States (US) Bureau of Labor and Statistics does not yet track the scientific discipline of Chemical Biology, but lists the median salary for biochemists and biophysicists working in research and development at over $88K in 2016. Moreover, the projected job growth for biochemists and biophysicists is faster than the national average at 11% between 2016 and 2026. Therefore, creation of a Bachelor of Science degree program for Chemical Biology will address a critical need for the formal education and laboratory training of personnel necessary for this emerging multidisciplinary scientific field.

The requirement for admission into this degree program requires 26 credit hours of prerequisite courses which is consistent with the B.S. of Chemistry requirements. Moreover, the additional upper division and elective courses satisfies the requirements for a degree as well as the 120 credit hour total.

Approval of this proposal will increase the number of opportunities for UNM students to gain knowledge in a forefront area of the biological and chemical sciences, and will lead to increased admissions because no similar programs exist on campus or within the State of New Mexico.

The Program's major goals are as follows:

Provide a novel degree program option for students not currently provided by other institutions within New Mexico.
 Provide a novel degree option for students that not currently well served by the current undergraduate degree options at the UNM.

3. To generate Chemical Biology graduates who are well prepared to pursue postgraduate education and training in other science and/or professional fields (M.S., Ph.D., M.D., or Pharm.D.) at the UNM or other colleges/universities.

A cumulative grade point average of at least 2.00 on all work.

- Transfer students must have a 2.00 transfer GPA.
- Continuing UNM students must have a 2.00 institutional GPA.

Demonstrated academic achievement by satisfying the following:

- Completion of General Education Curriculum: Communication.
- Completion of General Education Curriculum: Mathematics and Statistics.
- Completion of General Education Curriculum: Second Language.

Completion of Department of Chemistry and Chemical Biology admission course work with grades of "C" or better:

- CHEM 1225 or 1227.
- MATH 1430 or 1512.

Graduation Requirements

UNM Graduation requirements for B.S. in Chemical Biology

University requirements

The General Education curriculum requires a minimum of 31 credit hours of courses in the following areas of study (the "Gen Ed requirement", http://catalog.unm.edu/catalogs/2021-2022/undergrad-program.html ):

- 1. Communication (6 credit hours)
- 2. Mathematics and Statistics (3 credit hours)
- 3. Physical and Natural Sciences (4 credit hours)
- 4. Social and Behavioral Sciences (3 credit hours)*
- 5. Humanities (3 credit hours)
- 6. Second Language (3 credit hours)
- 7. Arts and Design (3 credit hours)
- 8. Student Choice (6 credit hours)

Note- the BS in Chemical Biology requires specific courses for areas 2, 3 and 8 which are listed below, so only 18 additional CH are mandated by this requirement.

The university also requires a minimum of 120 CH, 3 CH in an approved Diversity and Inclusion course (which may also satisfy one of the above requirements) and a GPA  $\geq$ 2.00.

* Supportive coursework may complete this requirement for general education (area 4) if you chose an economics course.

Arts and Sciences requirements

In addition to the university requirements, the College of A&S has the following requirements (http://catalog.unm.edu /catalogs/2021-2022/colleges/arts-sciences/index.html):

A&S 4. A minimum of 90 CH of courses taught by Arts and Sciences departments.

A&S 5. A major and minor or a double major, or one of the special curricula of the College. At least one of which must be housed within the College of Arts and Sciences.

A&S 6. One year of enrollment subsequent to the transition to Major status the College of Arts and Sciences with a minimum of 12 earned CH.

A&S 7. At least 48 CH of upper-division (3xx and 4xx) coursework (GPA  $\geq$ 2.00) on all upper-division CH accepted by the College of Arts and Sciences.

Note- most students should easily meet requirement A&S 4, since most Gen Ed courses (above) and all specific degree requirements (below) are taught by A&S departments.

Required upper division coursework for the BS Chemical Biology totals 31 CH, so 17 additional CH are needed to meet requirement A&S 7.

Program Learning Outcomes

Learning Outcomes

The students will develop basic knowledge of the combined major fields (biology, chemistry, and physics) and a broad knowledge of the various associated interdisciplinary subfields that include medicinal chemistry, cell biology, biochemistry, molecular biophysics, protein crystallography, computational genomics, and proteomics. The students will demonstrate their basic knowledge through formal written assessments, practical laboratory experimentation, and before graduation having the opportunity to perform original research with departmental faculty and staff.

The successful student will develop effective oral and communication skills as indicated:

- 1. Compose complete and grammatically correct sentences.
- 2. Express ideas in clear language appropriate to the format and audience.
- 3. Communicate complex concepts and ideas in an understandable manner.
- 4. Present ideas and information in a logically organized manner.
- 5. Adhere to legal and ethical standards for citing and crediting the intellectual property.
- 6. Establish rapport, engage attention, and elicit information through use of effective verbal, nonverbal, explanatory, questioning and listening skills.
- 7. Speak in a respectful manner (attentive, non-judgmental, non-threatening, and compassionate).
- 8. Express thoughts accurately that are appropriate for the situation and audience.

The successful student will develop an ability to integrate knowledge and use statistical analysis, mathematical methods, and computational models to solve problems as indicated:

- 1. Differentiate between relevant and irrelevant information to clarify the problem(s).
- 2. Explore/research multiple resources as needed to gather data and answer the question.
- 3. Analyze data to synthesize all relevant information and draw defensible conclusion(s).
- 4. Develop solution/decision/ conclusion/recommendation based on data.
- 5. Recommend or implement solution.
- 6. Demonstrate ability to monitor and refine effectiveness of solution.
- 7. Demonstrate understanding and competence in the mathematical, statistical, and computational techniques for modeling and simulating biochemical and biophysical interactions;
- 8. Demonstrate understanding of how the principles of physics (mechanics, electrostatics, thermodynamics, and kinetics) are applied to the study of biochemical and biophysical systems, interactions, chemical reactions, dynamics, and biological function and regulation.
- 9. Demonstrate understanding of the chemistry of the cell, biological organization, single-molecule and ensemble dynamics, and broadly speaking, the impact of the biological milieu on molecular interactions.

The successful student will develop an ability to identify and exhibit ethical, socially responsible, and be exhibit socially acceptable behaviors in the classroom, workplace, and society in general as indicated.

- 1. Demonstrate awareness of cultural and social diversity through interactions with students, staff, and faculty.
- 2. Demonstrate sensitivity to personal values and ethical principles in professional and social contexts.

Board of Regents of the University of New Mexico Security Managerial Group Resolution

Pursuant to requirements of the National Industrial Security Program (NISP), the Board of Regents adopts the following resolution:

1. Those persons occupying the following positions at the University of New Mexico (UNM) shall be known as the Managerial Group for safeguarding classified information. They shall implement the Provisions of the National Industrial Security Program Operating Manual (NISPOM).

President Provost Facility Security Officer

- 2. The members of the Managerial Group have been processed, or will be processed for a personnel clearance (PCL) for access to classified information, to the level of the Facility Clearance (FCL) granted to this Institution, as provided in the NISPOM (32 CFR Part 117). Individuals will be denied access to classified information until such time that their clearances are granted.
- 3. The Board of Regents hereby delegates all of the Board's duties and responsibilities pertaining to the protection of classified information under classified contracts awarded to the University of New Mexico, including its Health Sciences Center and Branch Campus locations, to the Managerial Group. In addition, the Managerial Group shall have the authority and responsibility of for the negotiation, execution, and administration of the contracts, consistent with UNM policy, state, and federal law.
- 4. The following named members of the Board of Regents shall not require, shall not have, and will be effectively excluded from access to all classified information disclosed to the University of New Mexico. The duties and responsibilities of the Board of Regents as a policy-making body do not require access to classified contracts awarded to the University of New Mexico, and therefore need not be processed for a personnel clearance (PCL).

Regent Paul Blanchard Regent Jack L. Fortner Regent Randy Ko (Student Regent) Regent William H. Payne Regent Kimberly Sanchez Rael Regent Robert L. Schwartz Regent Paula Tackett

This resolution is approved by the Board of Regents of the University of New Mexico on April 10, 2023 and supersedes all previous Security Managerial Group Resolutions. A copy of this resolution will be furnished to the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency.

C70: Confidentiality of Faculty Records

Approved By: Faculty Senate and Board of Regents

Effective Date: Draft 4/13/23

Responsible Faculty Committee: Faculty Senate Policy Committee

Office Responsible for Administration: Provost's Office of Academic Affairs or Vice President for Health Sciences' Office Academic Affairs.

Revisions to the Policy Rationale, Policy Statement, and Applicability sections of this document must be approved by the full Faculty Senate

POLICY RATIONALE

Although UNM maintains a variety of information applicable to faculty members, it is important to differentiate between information that is placed in a faculty member's "Faculty Personnel Files" and files maintained by components of UNM for reporting and/or documentation purposes. Additional files may exist containing information pertaining to individual faculty members that are maintained by administrative offices, units, subunits, and branches under the ultimate authority of the President of UNM. Such files are not Faculty Personnel Files under this Policy, whether in written or electronic form. Faculty Personnel Files must contain, and are limited to, any written information used to any degree in making a decision concerning the employment, rank, or status of a faculty member. This Policy identifies the type of information that may be placed in Faculty Personnel Files, the location of those files, confidentiality of the information, and rights and responsibilities pertaining to the Faculty Personnel Files. This Policy also discusses how faculty information that is subject to the Inspection of Public Records Act is handled.

POLICY STATEMENT

Faculty Personnel Files concerning UNM faculty shall be gathered, retained, disclosed, and used by academic or administrative units subject to the rules stated in this Policy. Agreements reached by collective bargaining will hold precedence over any element of this Policy for faculty members covered by a collective bargaining agreement.

1. Collection and Retention of Information

1.1 No more than one (1) personnel file shall be maintained in each of the following locations:

- (1) the faculty member's department (or other primary academic unit),
- (2) the faculty member's college,
- (3) and/or in the office of the Provost or Executive Vice President for Health Sciences (EVPHS).

Faculty Personnel Files shall be compiled or retained by UNM academic or administrative units solely for the purposes of administering the UNM personnel system, including the consideration of promotion, tenure, and separation from employment.

1.2 An item of information may be introduced into a faculty personnel file only if accompanied by written identification of the source of the information subject to the right of peer or student evaluators to keep their identities confidential from the faculty member evaluated as provided in section 2.2 herein.

1.3 Administrators with responsibility for the creation of Faculty Personnel Files identified in section 1.1 herein above are responsible to maintain the file and its security during the faculty member's employment at UNM and at least five (5) years thereafter (files of emeritus faculty shall be maintained during the faculty member's lifetime and at least two (2) years thereafter).

1.4 The administrative officer responsible for maintaining Faculty Personnel Files shall notify faculty in writing of any material deleted from their Faculty Personnel Files, the nature of the material and the reason for the action. In a similar manner, faculty shall be notified in writing of any material added to their file(s) with respect to which they have not been copied. Faculty members have the right to know and the responsibility to examine their Faculty Personnel Files.

1.5 With the exception of the faculty member's Dossier as described in Section B policies of the Faculty Handbook, other information outside of the Faculty Personnel Files may not be used for making a decision regarding faculty promotion, tenure, and separation from employment.

1.6 Information that is maintained by UNM administration is subject to applicable federal and state laws and regulations.

2. Access to Information by the Faculty Member

2.1 Each faculty member has the right to inspect and review their Faculty Personnel Files, and any record or file maintained on the faculty member by UNM, subject to the provisions of this Policy and any limitations imposed by law, within ten (10) working days from the date of the request. If additional time is needed to produce a record for inspection, the faculty member shall be informed in writing of the reason for the delay and the date such record will be available. Each faculty member has the right to challenge the accuracy of any item of information in their Faculty Personnel Files, including the right to introduce rebuttal statements or evidence into the files, or to request an investigation of, or the completion of incomplete investigations of, accusations of misconduct. The administrative officer shall respond to a faculty member's request to revise, amend, or delete items, and/or request for a completed investigation of accusations of misconduct, within ten (10) working days of receiving the request. If the request is denied, the administrative officer shall state in writing the reasons for the denial. The administrative officer will submit a copy of their decision to the dean and Provost Office/Office of the EVPHS, and the faculty member can submit a response in writing to the decision. If the administrative officer decides not to revise, amend, or delete items, and/or honor the request for a completed investigation of accusations of misconduct, that decision must be approved by the dean and the Provost's Office/ Office of the EVPHS. The administrative review process delineated herein does not replace the right to appeal such action if it is within the purview of the Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee (AF&T).

2.2 UNM respects the desire of many authors of faculty evaluations to keep their identities confidential, including from the faculty member being evaluated. Such matters of opinion include letters of reference for employment, internal peer evaluations of a faculty member, student evaluations, letters received from peer reviewers outside the University, as well as those portions of the recommendations of the faculty member's chair or dean or the Senior Vice Provost that may reveal the identities of peer or student evaluations.

a. If a faculty member makes a request to review and/or copy such evaluations, an academic administrator, prior to permitting such review or copying, shall redact material that may reveal the identity of the author. If it does not appear feasible to protect the identity of the author through redaction, the document may be accurately summarized in writing for the faculty member instead. If the author of an evaluation submits a written waiver of confidentiality, the evaluation may be reviewed or copied by the faculty member without redaction. If requested by the faculty member, a member of the Provost/EVPHS office and a member of the Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure designated by the Chair of the Committee shall verify the accuracy of the redacted or summarized documents.

b. If such information is requested by a third party, the faculty member shall be advised of the request prior to the release of the information.

2.3 To the extent information is confidential under this Policy, or privileged under law (for example, materials subject to attorney-client privilege), it shall not be available for inspection by the faculty member. Such information shall be retained separately and shall be available for inspection only by UNM officials granted access, by virtue of their assigned duties the information requested. In the case of privileged information, the administrative officer of the academic or administrative unit maintaining the files shall introduce a memorandum that states the nature of the privileged information, its date and source and the type of privilege asserted.

2.4. Any confidential medical information maintained by UNM shall be protected in a manner consistent with applicable state and federal laws.

2.5. Consistent with UAP Policy 3710, faculty information shall be made available only to those members of the Administration who have a legitimate business reason to view the information.

2.6 The Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee and the University Secretary may have access to Faculty Personnel Files when an issue is appealed to AF&T in accordance with Section B of the Faculty Handbook.

3. Public Access to Information about Faculty Members

3.1 Any person is entitled to the following public information maintained by UNM concerning a faculty member: present position, department, salary, dates of employment, and curriculum vitae, including educational qualifications, past employment, progress at UNM (initial employment, promotions, attainment of tenure, sabbaticals), publications, news items, awards and achievements. A faculty member may give written authority for the release of other information, said letter to be maintained in the faculty member's faculty personnel file.

3.2 Other than as provided in section 3.1 herein, records or information concerning a faculty member shall be made available by the custodian of a file of record only to those members of UNM who have an official role in the evaluation of that faculty member for purposes of employment, rank, status, salary, or other such decisions and whose role makes it necessary for them to know the contents of that faculty member's Faculty Personnel Files.

3.3 All requests for information from persons who are not members of UNM shall be referred to UNM Custodian of Public Records, which will coordinate a proper response with the appropriate Academic Affairs Office. The Custodian shall attempt to advise the faculty member by email and phone of the request for the release prior to the release of any records. In coordination with the Custodian, the appropriate Academic Affairs Office shall make available for inspection upon request the releasable information concerning a faculty member. A record of the name and address of any member of the public making such request shall be kept in the faculty member's faculty personnel file at the appropriate Academic Affairs office and be available for inspection by the faculty member.

APPLICABILITY

All UNM faculty including the Health Sciences and branch community colleges.

DEFINITIONS

No specific definitions are required for the Policy Statement.

Revisions to the remaining sections of this document may be amended with the approval of the Faculty Senate Policy and Operations Committee in consultation with the responsible Faculty Senate Committee listed in Policy Heading.

WHO SHOULD READ THIS POLICY

- Faculty
- Department Chairs, academic deans and other academic administrators and executives.

Open-Ended Question

Please share a personal experience where food or housing insecurity had a direct impact on your ability to go to class or work, focus, study, or complete assignments.

Examples of UNM Student Responses

- Without having eaten a decent meal in the past few days, I failed one of my final exams and couldn't show up to take another because I also could not afford gas.
- My meal plan ran out at the end of last semester and I was struggling to get food.
- I've lost tons of weight since I have to walk everywhere and eat so much less now.
- Being hungry makes me feel sick. I feel dizzy and get headaches and get muscle cramps all over. I can barely concentrate enough to drive, let alone study. I try to attend all my classes and participate, but I know my grades slip when I'm hungry.

Examples of UNM Student Responses

- During undergrad I had to drop out of/withdraw from multiple semesters because of housing instability.
- My [community] isn't the safest and sometimes I just don't feel safe and have its of anxiety which affects my ability to do assignments.
- Had to move suddenly as a result of a 30% rent hike. I was forced to move into a dangerous neighborhood.
- It is hard to focus on class when I am so worried about money. I am stressed that my rent will increase this summer and I will be forced to move again. I feel guilty when I buy food on campus because I know I am living beyond my means, but I don't want to go to class hungry.

Examples of UNM Student Responses

- I qualify for SNAP which helps a lot but I will no longer qualify after September. The times when I haven't qualified for SNAP, I often just skip more meals and end up feeling more stressed and tired during school.
- I didn't have enough gas to drive to campus.
- At the end of the month you'd have to choose between food and gas for my car to get to class easily. If I chose food I'd have to walk 45 minutes each way to campus which would cause me to be even hungrier and have a hard time focusing in class or on research.

A Program That Works: UNM Social Work Internship Program

- Miquela Ortiz Upston, and former Director of the WRC, Jessica Hidalgo Holland, established an internship program of social work students to address needs insecurity.
- The social work internship program has successfully helped UNM students receive assistance with public benefits and brings federal dollars into the state.

Internship Program Staff & Partnerships

•-----•

- Part-time Licensed Social Worker Supervisor.
- 5 MA Level Social Work Interns: provided a total of 2,500 bilingual service hours in 2022-2023.
- Affiliation agreements signed between the Women's Resource Center and NMSU & New Mexico Highlands.

Data on Services Provided

Total Public Benefit Applications

Since March: There has been an increase in need for food and housing assistance.

Services Provided

The majority of requests for application assistance are for SNAP.

Demographics of Students Seeking Assistance

Demographics 6% 3% 9% American Indian 15% Hispanic African American White Asian 67%

The demographics of those who request the services are similar to those who are most food insecure at UNM.

Recommendations

- Recognize the opportunity for state and national leadership in solutions.
- Encourage BNP and Student Affairs Collaboration.
- Provide more services directly addressing food and housing insecurity. (Increase emergency grant fund, create food scholarships, create housing vouchers, enlarge social work internship program.)

UNM Generative Al Education and Training Initiative

Objective:

 Develop and implement a plan to educate and train faculty and students in using AI tools and technologies

Rationale:

 There is an urgent need to stay at the forefront of AI innovation and prepare students for future opportunities

Initiative Phases

Phase 1	Phase 2	Phase 3
Phase 1 • Faculty Education and Training	Phase 2 <ul> <li>Al Literacy</li> <li>Pilot Course</li> <li>for students</li> </ul>	Phase 3 • Continuous Improvement and Expansion of AI Education and Training

Image generated by Mid Journey

Phase 1: Faculty Education and Training

Raise awareness, assess faculty needs, and provide targeted training

Faculty training curriculum, workshops, and seminars

Online resources, support, and evaluation

Phase 2: Al Literacy Pilot Course

 Design and offer of a 1-credit hour AI Literacy Pilot Course in Fall 2023 (8 weeks)

 Course content and guest speakers from various fields

 Evaluation based on student feedback and learning outcomes

Phase 3: Continuous Improvement and Expansion of Al Education and Training

- Review and update faculty and student AI training,
- Foster interdisciplinary collaboration and partnerships,
- Promote a culture of AI innovation and responsible use,
- Measure and evaluate the overall impact of AI education and training, and
- Communicate success stories and lessons learned.

Expected Outcomes and Resources Needed

- Expected outcomes:
  - improved AI knowledge and skills,
  - increased AI literacy,
  - interdisciplinary collaboration, and
  - a culture of AI innovation
- Resources needed:
  - financial support,
  - expertise,
  - time,
  - infrastructure, and
  - leadership

Conclusion

The importance of the Generative AI Education and Training Initiative

Invite support from the Board of Regents, university leadership, and the academic community
