

FACULTY SHOWCASE

of STRATEGIES to IMPROVE STUDENT SUCCESS

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 12 to 1:30 PM

STUDENT UNION BUILDING (SUB) in LOBO A & B (3rd Floor)

What strategies have your colleagues used to boost student success?

What university resources can help you design a success strategy for your own course or degree program?

Presentations of three successful strategies:

1. Allen Butt (with Eric Jackson): Promoting Student Success by (Re)Design in Psychology 1110: Introduction to Psychology
2. Eva Chi: Transforming first-year courses: Activating Students' Funds of Knowledge with Sociotechnical Design in Chemical and Biological Engineering
3. Tina Takacs, Satya Witt, Carson Hedberg, and Oona Takano: Transformation of the Biology Undergraduate Curriculum and the role of GTAs as Agents of Change

Opportunity Fair: how to build a strategy with data, research opportunities, belonging research, supplemental instruction and learning strategies, course design, and more.

The Presentations and Opportunity Fair are the ideal start to college and school calls for proposals and are brought to you by Academic Affairs in partnership with the College of Arts & Sciences and the School of Engineering. All UNM instructors are welcome.

Refreshments will be provided
